WORLD WAR III: WHAT IFs?

At the end of World War II, two superpowers emerged from the conflict: the United States and the Soviet Union. In the decades that followed, these two superpowers faced off in what became known as the Cold War. This issue analyzes the military aspects of that long struggle between the two powers. The approach is to analyze where World War III might have started and been fought in each of the decades between 1945 and 1991. The chapters include original maps, orders of battle, and photographs. It is written to be of value to newcomers as well as those who consider themselves experts. The prose is clear and free of jargon, but rich in detail and analysis. This issue includes a map poster.

The chapters all include original maps, orders of battle, and photographs. The chapters are:

- The Iron Curtain Descends, 1945-48
- Stalin's Final Years, 1949-53
- Crumbling Empires & Liberated Colonies, 1954-61
- On the Brink, 1962-70
- Limited Wars, 1970-80
- Raising the Ante, 1981-91
